GIRL AND JOY DANCE INTO HOUSE OF DESOLATION

Bossy Shows Why He's After

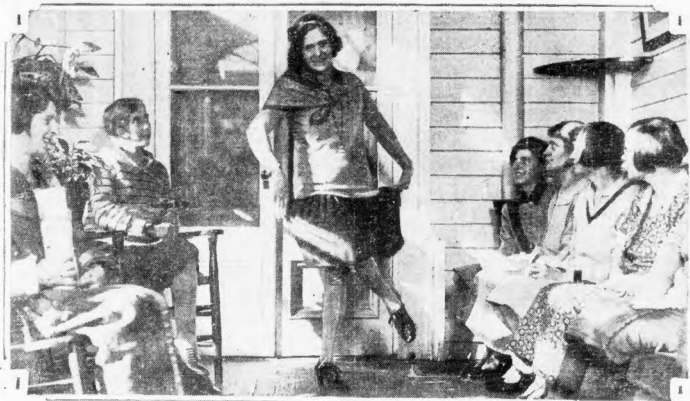

Newburyport Police

AS MAYOR HE HAS HIS INNINGS

Bossy Gillis, Newburyport's new Mayor, stands back of bars of cell he once spent eight days in. Now he owns and lives in the old jail. He's seen also at desk in City Hall. "Bossy" says there's not enough life in Newburyport and that there are too many dead-ends in the city. However, he promises to liven things up considerably in the near future.

She's Doing Two-a-Day Routing Hospital Blues

CHORUS GIRL IN SOLO MATINEE TO A "FULL HOUSE" ON THE PORCH

Bertha Jenkins is playing to S. R. O. out at the Convalescents' Home of the City Hospital, and she's making a unanimous hit with her audience of 17—all women. She's probably the only girl matinee idol hereabouts. She's a chorus girl in "My Maryland" and double pneumonia sent her to the hospital, but she's on the road to recovery. She has filled the Convalescents' Home with mirth and gladness.

HELD IN $15,000 FOR BURGLARY

Everett and Mofford police today arrested Alfred G. McKenna, 22, natural steel worker, of Everett, as the accomplice of Stanley H. Griffin, 25, of West street, Malden, in a break at the Quality Pharmacy, Main street, Medford, early Sunday morning.

McKenna pleaded not guilty in District Court to a charge of breaking and entering in the night-time, but of $15,000 was imposed pending action of the Middlesex Grand Jury. Griffin was arrested several days ago and is held in both of the same amount.

Gaston, banker, lawyer and twice candidate for governor. The trustees, John H. Boardman, Roger Amory, John K. Boardman and John T. Leaping 1928 Gives Cupid a Shove Just to Remind Hub Girls

GIRLS, FIND THE MAN; THE TIME'S HERE

RESCUED FROM DEATH; MAKES OTHERS HAPPY

A story about a chorus girl should, of course, deal with stage-door John, elaborate night clubs and wild parties. The tale should be from some romantic section of the country, preferably the South, and she should bear some apt, sentimental name as Edith de Montclair.

But this isn't that kind of story, and the heroine of sentimental Wilkes-Barre, Pa., isn't that kind of chorus girl.

Only a few weeks ago Martha was in the chorus of "My Maryland," musical comedy. The sprightly pretty girl danced across off a warm state into the old street and into the City Hospital with double pneumonia.

For days her life hung by the proverbial thread at the hospital, and as last week's physicians announced that she had been expelled back from the Valley of the Shadow and would live to dance and sing again.

RADIATES HAPPINESS
A few days ago Martha, somewhat pale and weak, was transferred to the Convalescents' Home, connected with the City Hospital, on Doubletree avenue, Dorchester.

And there the simplest chorus girl found herself in the midst of a new life. Despite the efforts of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Fairbank and her corps of assistants the patients were frowny and despondent, being shut away from their homes during the holiday season.

The smiling girl danced into this place of gloom just as a single ray of sunlight danced into a darkened cell, she gathered her strength together, and the other patients.

ALBEE TELLS OF RISE IN WORLD

Ten "Milestones" a day: A company of players enacting on and over ever on into the night hours and for the cause of the drama—with Raymond Hitchcock's claim sagging wearily on his chest.

That was the picture of his start upward to the high places of the theatre as described today by Dr. P. Albee, head of the Keith-Albee chain of theatres, at a luncheon of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

It was back in 1895 when his association began with P. F. Keith, he said. Keith, with Albee, produced Gilbert and Sullivan's light operas "The Mikado," at ten cents admission.

"We nearly killed the company the first week," the theatrical magnate told his audience.

"They played the opera continuously. Some days they played it eight or ten times a day. I finally had to engage another company so that they could turn."

"It may interest you to know that Raymond Hitchcock was our comedian and we sold him the primary aim of his work."

"One great artist that we employed in those days was George and Fiedle, The Four Colors. Some money and Stone and Lionel Barrymore."

He added that the success of the Keith houses resulted from the desire to be clean and show. "They are the feelings of those theatres and can be injected into any man's business. What we need in this world is a little humanity," the lecturer said.

Mr. Albee said he started in his new life as stock boy in a Boston department store, but was engaged by Jim Fisk to play a small part.

NAVY OFFICER DECLARES S4 ASKED FOR SODA OF LIME IN VAIN

COMMANDER OF LOST BOAT PROMISED SOME 'IN 1928'

HOW PAULDING HIT S4

GAVE HOLDS UP S4 BODIES

2 OF IDENTIFIED S4 DEAD

The submarine S4 was defective when last inspected in October, Lieutenant-Commander Edmund W. Strother, in charge of the 12th submarine division, admitted today at the inquiry into the S4 sinking.

Commander Strother said that the inspection revealed defects in the submarine's air compressors and torpedo room, and admitted that some hand gear was used for the hand pumps.

He followed on the stand Lieutenant Frank L. Word, commander of the submarine S4, a steel ship or the 41, who declared that he sold of lime asked that would have afforded longer life to the men in the sunken craft was asked by the S1 commander, but the Navy Department told him he could have it in 1928.

At the completion of his sight he was highly complimented by Rear Admiral R. M. Jackson, president of the inquiry board.

Lieutenant Word testified that soda of lime absorbs the death producing carbon dioxide given out by the lungs and aids oxygen in keeping life in a human.

"CONTROVERSY" OVER SODA.

One-half pound of soda of lime, he said, will absorb the 2.50 cubic feet of carbon dioxide breathed out by a man in one hour. Only 9.50 of a cubic foot of oxygen is required by a man in one hour, however.

During wartime, according to Lieutenant Word, each submarine carries 2,500 pounds of soda of lime, sufficient to sustain the breathing of 5,750 "breathing hours."

Lieutenant Word said that the submarine commander had engaged in a "controversy" with the Navy Department over soda of lime.

The S1 commander also testified that an air purification system installed in this submarine was purchased for $150.

A tribute to the care exercised by the S4 commander while in charge of the submarine was paid by Lord Word.

"Sometimes I thought it was a little over-cautious," the witness commented.

He brought out also that when he took his own 25 cubic feet of soda of lime, he first notified the naval authorities at Boston and Washington, but no reply was received.

It was the coast guard destroyer Paulding which with the S4 was in collision off Wood Island.

IS QUESTIONED CLOSELY.

The you full, red-headed seaman was questioned by every member of the board during the session, especially when searching for the question being put to him by the veteran, Rear Admiral J. F. Tamm, relative to the possible methods of getting air into a sunken submarine under various conditions.

Lieutenant Word said there were four per cent water through valves lines into the ballast tanks, though A. C. told he was down finally on the S4 through the exterior charging device, and through

Congress to Speed S4 Inquiry

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—The House passed today to take up today the House resolution to create a special commission of investigation to investigate the sinking of the S4.

Representative Griffith, Democrat, of New York, in a speech, denounced the Navy Department's delay in making an investigation into the sinking of the S4.

He said that the Navy Department's delay in making an investigation into the sinking of the S4 was a disgrace to the Navy.

The Navy has been frantic for weeks who would confirm the report that the S4 was defective when last inspected in October.

He declared that, excepting for weather conditions, he considers the Providence test courses the best on the coast.

The witness said, however, that this practice is not now in vogue when submarines are operating in the Atlantic.

He declared that, excepting for weather conditions, he considers the Providence test courses the best on the coast.

With Judge Advocate Beaton questioning Lieutenant Word, he testified:

Q—How long would the Paulding have been the submarine?

A—With the submarine going at 4 to 5 knots an hour submerged, and the destroyer traveling at 18 knots, and separated by a mile, it would take 10 minutes to reach the submarine.

I should say the destroyer could not have had time to see the submarine.

Q—These estimates are based on the destroyer's being four feet above the water?

A—Yes.

Q—What were the conditions on the S4?

A—The sea was calm, with small waves. The submarine was in the water, and the destroyer was in the air.

TEA DANCES ONCE MORE SPARKLE SATURDAYS AT REPERTORY HALL, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Little Daughter Is Born to the Phineas Shaw Sprague, of Boston and Prout's Neck, Me.

THERE IS GREAT REJOICING IN THE CARNEGIE-SPRAGUE connection since a little daughter arrived with the new year to be adored place in the Phineas Shaw Sprague nursery. Mrs. Sprague was Miss Lucy Carnegie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, of the North Shore, Pittsburgh and Cumberland Island, and her marriage was celebrated last night at the list of homes of those notable, Mr. and Mrs. Phineas W. Sprague, of Boston and Prout's Neck, Me., are paternal parents and grandparents.

GRANDPARENT HONORS ARE NOT NEW TO Mr. and Mrs. Phineas W. Sprague and the Andrew Carnegies, 26, since the young Shaw Sprague already have a son, "Phineas Shaw Sprague, Jr." The little new queen of the nursery's arrival, however, is a most interesting event, and served to bring Mrs. Phineas W. Sprague and her charming daughter, Miss Sally Sprague (grandmother and aunt, respectively), home from the winter sports at Lake Placid in advance of others of the Sprague house party. Miss Sprague soon returns to her school, which will continue to absorb all her mother's entire attention for another year or two before the much awaited debut comes round.

SINCE A "STYLE EXPERT" of metropolitan caliber lists the Princess Margaret Draper Boucompagni as one of the "world's most chic" women, I feel perfectly justified, compelled in fact, to mention this handsome matron in one of my radio talks on "Clothes" from Station WLOE. I saw the Princess when she was here in Boston for the Christmas holidays and her crown of her head to the tips of her toes was truly chic, and a radiant picture as well. Of the twenty-five "World's Best Dressed" were I to make a list, she'd be in first place.

POVLA FRITZCH COMES TO TOWN AGAIN TO LIFT UP HER VOICE IN SONG AT A JORDAN Hall recital impressively sponsored. The date is January 21, and Madame Fritzch is appearing in the afternoon, a not unpleasant variant of the usual evening appearances of songsters, both the domestic brand and of imported flavor. Names that appear most frequently on speaker lists when music is the offering are down for this affair—Mrs. Elliot Wadsworth, Mrs. Frederick J. Bradley, Jr., Mrs. I. Tucker Burr, Mrs. Gorham Brooks, Mrs. George Hawley, Mrs. Henry S. Hunsell and Mrs. James Jackson.

MISS ELIZABETH BURGESS OF DEDHAM, SOPRANO, SERVES attractively with voice and person to grace the Jordan Hall stage on January 12, and shares concert honors with an imported singer, the Prince Alexis Obolensky, who has sung many times in many countries from here to Australia. Miss Burgess, being a home-grown product, and the Prince, a bass-valet, with background sufficiently picturesque (as the name implies), the affair is unusually interesting to Boston's devotees of the Muse of Music.

NOW THAT THE PAIL (OF COLLEGE VACATION) IS LIFTED and our justly famous college over the River Charles again hums with student industry, the bird comes into her own again and takes up her schedule of frivolities. No ball, of course, registers "perfectly brilliant" in her reminiscences when the so convenient college man is out about to fill the bag lines. Not even a few dance at twilight, when youth dances but ignores the troupe's beverage, has place in the "what shall we do today" unless there's a phalanx of gallants.

TEA DANCES ON SATURDAYS AT REPERTORY HALL SPARKLE again in the calendar for the ever-dancing deb and her colleagues. Quite astutely, and with a weather eye on future prospects, Legion Rolling is enrolling a young people's committee to serve for the dances. A round hundred, debutantes and post-debutantes, very young men about town, seniors and carefree undergrads, these should effectively endorse any series of tea dances with class and fervor. Mesdames Bernard Trafford, Henry L. Higgins, 24, Charles Frederick Wood and Andrew J. Peters are patronesses.

WHETHER IN WASHINGTON, CHICAGO OR BOSTON (BOSTON meaning the North Shore) magnificent hospitality in magnificent setting is the Joseph Letter way. Having an enormous ballroom in their Washington establishment, nothing gives the hospitable Letters greater pleasure than filling it with young people for a party. They entertain sumptuously and fortunate the Washington debutante, spreading her wings in the Federal City social flame, who is chosen above her mate for Letter hospitality. On Sunday evening of this week there are two buds so honored, Miss Katharine Wilkins and Miss Louise Spencer.

MISS SPENCER IS THE CHERISHED DAUGHTER OF THE Henry Benning Spencers, and Miss Wilkins is the adored daughter of the John F. Wilkins family conservatory. And, by the way, speaking of conservatories, the Edwin F. Webster mansion at Commonwealth avenue and Dartmouth street is brightening the avenue more than a little this holiday season. The conservatory on the avenue side is brilliant with enormous many-leaved palmettos, so brightly scented as though they flourished in their native Southern home. The Webster conservatory blooms successively and generously with a lovely floral display for the pleasure to glory in.

A Boston muse and a Sonoville lad figured among six prize winners in the eighteenth annual world essay contest, conducted by the American School Citizenship League, it was announced today.

Miss Katherine L. Pond, student at the Girls' Latin School, captured first place in the composition contest for secondary schools. Her prize was $75.

Arnold D. Fuller of Sonoville High School received $25 as third prize in the same class. The contest was conducted by the League for the Misses Mary B. and Helen S. Fuller of New Bedford, donors of the prize.

Miss North University of Pittsford gathered all three prizes in the senior division and Gilbert Skinner of Bristol, England, was returned winner of second prize in the secondary competition.

LINDY ONE OF FEW ENVOYS WHO NEVER MADE MISTAKE

New York, Jan. 3 (A.P.)—One subject of conversation between an ambassador and a follow-up-voicer who was an ambassador is a third ambassador. Said George Harvey to Jacob Gould Schurman when they met on the steamship George Washington: "Lindbergh is the best ambassador this country ever had. He is one of the few diplomats who never made a mistake."

TENOR SLAPS DIVA'S FACE IN RACE ROW AT OPERA

Szeged, Hungary, Jan. 3 (A.P.)—A great commotion was caused at the opera when, in full view of the audience, the popular tenor, Javor, slapped the face of the prima donna, Gollings, three times. She faint, and in falling broke her arm. Javor had recently hummed an anti-semitic song in the prima donna's ear and her opponent suggested him.

Blindfolded Duelists in Battle to Death

Warsaw, Jan. 3 (U.S.S.)—With their eyes bandaged and dueling with automatic revolvers at arm's length, Colonel Jan Pogielon and Bronislaw Krzyzowski, son of a Polish senator, mortally wounded each other.

Krzyzowski made a remark about President Pilsudski which he held to be insulting and promptly challenged him to a duel. Automatic revolvers were chosen as the weapons. With their eyes bandaged the duelists were placed at arm's length from each other.

GIRL AND JOY DANCE TO HOUSE OF DESOLATION

gathered around her easy chair, all the while she sat in the shadows. She went through her repertoire of songs from the show, singing "Bill, Bill, Bill," "Makin' Him," and "Mexico." She even sang herself from her chair and performed for a few steps of her gay little dance.

Happiness had come to 17 women, and women, middle-aged women and young women.

"SHARER FRIENDS."

Now every afternoon Bertie gives a solo matinee, and every evening another show.

And just yesterday the Little Old Lady with the "Catches" whistled one duet to her.

And the girl who had been singing the rollicking jazz songs smiled sweetly to "Police Thru" among the girls, and the Little Old Lady with the "Catches" went to sleep with a smile on her face for the first time in months.

Bertie is only a little over 17 years old and she found a happier life of the other young people, Martin, Vicky, the same age as herself, and her sister, a few years older.

And the sun room and sitting room are cheerful places now.

HISTORY OF U. S. IN TAPLEUX AT JORDAN MARSH

Downtown shopping crowds are being drawn to the large show window of the Jordan Marsh Company fronting on Washington street by a display of miniature tableaux representing scenes from early American history.

The scenes which are depicted in a series of 18 reproductions of original paintings, each occupy an on the window, and the different characters are moulded in plaster figures, giving a lifelike, realistic touch.

The work of moulding the figures and arranging the scenes in connection with the original paintings was done in Austria by Carl and Roman Balts and then brought to this country.

The exhibit is in connection with the 75th birthday anniversary of the Jordan Marsh Company, and starts with the landing of Columbus, from the painting by Van Der Wey.

PICTURE U. S. HISTORY.

The Boston Tea Party is reproduced from an old wood engraving by John Andrew, and the fall of Bunker Hill is a copy of the famous painting by Colonel John Trumbull which now hangs in the Yale School of Fine Arts.

Wells Street at Mammouth from the house relief by James E. Kelly and Washington Crossing the Delaware, from the painting by Emanuel Leutze, are striking. An other scene which attracts much attention is that showing the signing of the Declaration of Independence, also by Colonel Trumbull, and is a reproduction of one of a group of four paintings now in the records of the Capitol at Washington.

Perry at Lake Erie by William H. Powell is also a copy from the painting in the Capitol rotunda.

LANDING OF PILGRIMS.

William Penn's Treaty with the Indians is a copy of the painting by Benjamin West which now hangs in the old Independence Hall in Philadelphia, and the first Thanksgiving at the Mayflower, also by Powell, is from the painting now over the north doorway of the Capitol Theatre at Washington.

The Landing of the Pilgrims by Peter F. Rothermel shows the brave women members of that body band just stepping on the shore.

The women entering the entire window space on Washington street, no doubt will have the show, and they are attracting more and more attention each day.

THIRD PARTIES TO BE RETIRED IN SEPTEMBER

Washington, Jan. 4 (A.P.).—The Treasury Department is working for the retirement of the third Liberty bond issue maturing Sept. 15, although they are still in a primary stage, they provide for an exchange of the third issue for the other two issues of Treasury bonds of equal value to be offered March 15 and June 15.

The department hopes to retire the $2,147,652,150 issue without disturbing the business and monetary systems.

BOSTON MAN NAMED ON BOARD OF STATE EXPERTS

Washington Jan. 5 (U.S.A.).—Secretary of Agriculture Jardine today reappointed Harry L. Jones of Boston to the United States Board of State Experts. The first meeting of the board will be held in New York Jan. 20, at which time the two experts who go into effect May 1 will be selected.

What Kind of Man Can a Girl Trust?

(I)
A BOY and a girl stand in a softly scented garden under a summer moon. To him, she is the most beautiful girl in the world. Her starry eyes, the delicate perfume of her hair, the soft touch of her hand, stir within him long-pent emotions—emotions he has never dared to express.

"I—I love you," he falters clumsily. "I want you to—to be my—wife."

She is silent for a time; and when she raises her head, he sees that her eyes are wet with tears.

"I'm sorry, Joe," she murmurs. "You don't know how I hate to hurt you. But there is another boy I love—Harry White. He lives in Poplarville. We are engaged. You can see now, why I can't marry you."

At first dazed, uncomprehending—he feels suddenly sick and old. That name, hammering on his brain—it is impossible—and yet—

(II)

Two men are seated on a bench in Poplarville. An attractive, finely built, snappily dressed youth passes by.

Says one of the men, following the youth with his eyes:

"I'm not telling all I know; but if I had a daughter, I'd see to it that she didn't go spooning in the dark with that fellow, Harry White."

(III)

Later—a dance hall in Poplarville. Joe, lonely, despairing, his heart starved for a love that has been died, lurks in the shadows outside the door and in the sound of the music seeks forgetfulness.

Suddenly a closed sedan nearby comes a girl's shivvy.

The car is flung open; the girl attempts to descend, struggling to free herself from a man's detaining hands. She is a stranger to Joe—but her ailment is not. In the glow of the street-lamp he recognizes Harry White's rage-distorted face.

Grim-lipped, eyes blazing, Joe leaps toward the car—tries to grapple with White—and is sent reeling from a smashing blow in the face.

(IV)

Thus begins this terrific real-life drama of savage hate and overwhelming love. As the lightning bolt voices the fury of the approaching hurricane, so the blows struck in this first terrible encounter merely clear the field for action in the mighty struggle to come.

But it is to be a struggle that transcends the clash of mere physical forces. It becomes a herculean battle for a woman's soul—a battle in which devotion, self-sacrifice and the invincible power of true love are matched against treachery, cunning and cowardice.

This stirring story, entitled "The Supreme Test of a Man's Devotion," appears complete in the February issue of True Story Magazine. It is a heart-grIPPING narrative of real life that no man or woman will want to miss.

Real Life's Most Thrilling Stories

Of all the questions that have perplexed the mind of man, the problem of life itself and its meaning is one that agitates men and women everywhere.

Not in novels, stories or plays will the answer be found, but only in the true records of life itself. Such records are always doubly thrilling because they deal with problems that are familiar to all of us.

Every month True Story Magazine prints from fourteen to twenty intimate, frank-written real-life stories set down by men and women who have really lived the events they write about. These wonderful narratives, each with its own gripping, soul-stirring, heart-searching quality give the reader an insight into life that can be gained in no other way. The February issue—out today—is a splendid example. Your newswriter has it. Get your copy today.

in Prizes

Each year True Story Magazine pays thousands of dollars for true stories. In your life there may be a story for which we are willing to pay handsomely. Prizes range from $500.00 to $24,000.00 cash for true stories of the sort you have to tell. The February issue contains full particulars.

(Left)—"HOW ABOUT A LITTLE RUMOR?"—Young men did not care much for Louie. "You'll never be popular," her girl friend said, "until you come out of your shell and are acquainted with life. So it is a real desire to acquire experience, she readily turned herself into life. The price she paid is vividly described in "The Man I Might Have Married," February True Story Magazine.

(Above)—"I LOOKED UP IN WIDE-EYED TERROR"—A small, roughly-traced old map describing the location of a fabulous treasure in the mountains of Mexico, and a brave girl's heroic attempt to prevent this huge fortune from falling into the hands of a gang of scheming, ruthless, merely suggest the startling events in "The Beast in Men," February True Story Magazine.

(Above)—"GIVE ME THAT PAPER," he demanded. To Lisa's vain soul, the seduction of men was the one thing worth living for. She loved to pit one admirer against another—to make them battle for the favor of her smile—little dreaming that she was setting the stage for tragedy. For her own heart-grIPPING story of what happened, see "For Love of a Woman," February True Story Magazine.

Would Have Fought Tun-
ney, Says Chairman

Chicago, Jan. 3 (A.P.)—A fight against Jack Dempsey for "a second time" is being made possible by the efforts of Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois Boxing Commission, under whose regulations Dempsey sought to fight Sharkey last September to a ten-round draw.

In Prehn's opinion, Dempsey did not win the fight with Sharkey.

"Sharkey was better than Dempsey," Prehn said, "and Dempsey had repeatedly told him, Sharkey was never to be fought again, but he went down in the tenth round and when he got up he was a different man."

Prehn said that Dempsey was a poor sportsman and that he would have fought Tunney if he had been offered the fight.

Announcing The VICTORY SIX BY DODGE BROTHERS

From an engineering standpoint The Victory is radically new, radically different and thoroughly original—is literally years ahead of its time in many vital features.

In a very real sense, too, it compares with no other car or class, because NO car, either here or abroad, provides features that are comparable. To enjoy these advantages you must buy THIS car, for elsewhere they simply do not exist.

Revolutionary New Principles of Design

1. For the first time since the invention of the automobile, the chassis and body of The Victory are a single integral unit—the wide, deep Victory chassis frame, flush with the lines of the body, replaces the customary body sills. (Heretofore, the body was mounted on a sill and both in turn mounted on the chassis.)

2. For the first time in history, battle-ship construction (i. e., double steel walls) is here applied to the motor car.

Spectacular Performance

The results of these, and other basic innovations are astonishing in their effect on every phase of motor car value; beauty, comfort, safety, strength and most impressive and important of all—performance itself.

With chassis and body a single unit, there are 330 fewer parts—175 pounds less weight—and an extremely low center of gravity.

The results are greater motor efficiency—increased power—quicker pick-up—greater stability and flexibility in relation to load—an easier car to handle—a faster car to drive!

21 miles to the gallon at 25 miles per hour is precisely what you can expect—with sustained high speed all day long at instant call!

Drive over cobbles and await the usual discomfort—it will never occur! The Victory is the smoothest riding car, for its type, ever built.

Safe, Strong and Stable

Because the chassis frame conforms precisely with the body lines—and because of the car's low center of gravity (weight close to the ground) The Victory is remarkably stable—tipping, skidding and swaying are reduced to a point positively negligible!

Turn a sharp corner and you will under-stand! And the double steel walls mean double protection in case of accident—double the safety of any type yet known. A staunch body, with doors that close with a substantial and non-metallic snap.

Quiet and Comfortable

The aim of all engineering is simplicity.

for simplicity means economy—strength—SILENCE. There are only 8 major parts in The Victory body—and they are welded into a single unit. Not a joint to squeak or rattle. A silent body.

And Dodge Brothers powerful new six-cylinder motor—specially engineered for The Victory—preserves this luxurious quietness at all speeds.

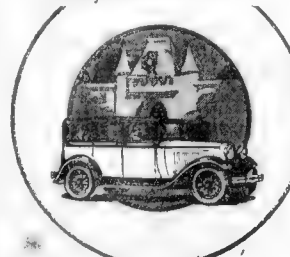

A Car of Striking Beauty

Body and chassis built as a single unit—without the customary body sill—permits lower over-all height with liberal head-room and road-clearance.

Splash shields, a constant source of noise and annoyance are replaced by the wide, deep Victory chassis frame; wide, heavy-gauge one-piece fenders and drum-type head-lamps are provided. Upholstery, hardware, instruments, color combinations and other appointments satisfy the most exacting demands of style and good taste.

Indeed, you have a distinct and thrilling impression that the car in which you are riding is long, low, swift and safe—a car of surpassing originality and smartness down to the smallest detail.

FIGHTER AGAINST MASTER

Loughran-Lomski Mill at New York Tomorrow Shapes Up As Real Ring Test

By DAMON RUNYON

THAT little affair between Tommy Loughran and Leo Lomski, which is being staged at the Garden tomorrow night, is a real ring test. It is a fight between a champion and a challenger, a fight between a man who has won the world's championship and a man who has won the world's championship. It is a fight between a man who has won the world's championship and a man who has won the world's championship.

LEO LOMSKI has something of a reputation as a fighter. He is a man who has won the world's championship. He is a man who has won the world's championship. He is a man who has won the world's championship. He is a man who has won the world's championship.

AM not so sure of that, Lomski. He is a man who has won the world's championship. He is a man who has won the world's championship. He is a man who has won the world's championship. He is a man who has won the world's championship.

Flashy New England Men for Field Events

ACTING KIDNEYS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need to be cleaned out. If you don't have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatism, indigestion, liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness, and all sorts of bladder disorders, you must keep your kidneys active and clean and the blood free from acid. The pain in the kidney region being drinking liquids. Also get about four quarts of water daily. Buy a medicine chest and keep it in your drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, at five day and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous sial is made from the sial of the famous Chinese doctor, mixed with lithia, and is intended to clean out the clogged kidneys, stimulate them to activity, also helps neutralize the acids in the blood thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delicious effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take daily. It is the best kidney cleanser.

For the local druggist can sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct their troubles. It is a very trouble.

Of the two races of Pygmies known to be existing today the Negroides of equatorial Africa are the smaller in stature. They are from four to five feet tall and one-half feet wide, while they seldom weigh more than seventy-nine pounds. (Hartung's Pygmies.)

They are not a very different appearance:

"The Pygmies are wonderful mimics and are quick to grasp the salient points of a situation, giving a very accurate and often very marked sense of humor, often with a dash of the grotesque, while conversing among themselves. One of the most interesting and intelligent chatters, what old Shesret from the Pygmy nation, called him a 'chatterbox'—a 'chatterbox' and chuckling over. I am sure they are as intelligent as the white man, but sudden temper, but as quickly relaxed. They are very friendly."

He adds that he believes that in the future the Pygmies of the north of the Negroides. They are believed also to be thoroughly versed in the sciences of music and their antiques. They love the dance, and the Pygmy dance is a very important play an important part, together with the music, in the life of the Pygmy's music of rhythm is especially developed, so that the dancing is a very important part of the Pygmy's life. The Pygmies are covered with antelope skin, and well dressed in the Pygmy style. They are very interested in tracing back the dance, and the Pygmy dance is a very important part of the Pygmy's life.

Indigestion
Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is actually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acid. But don't use crude herbs. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For 30 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Be sure—now—why this method is supreme.

Go learn to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 30 years in suffering cases of acid, and also a bottle—in drug stores.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
